

Restricted entry: What doesn't make national headlines, but could, makes it here

By Agencies |Posted 13-Dec-2015

All in the party

Shah Rukh Khan's shaking a leg at the ladies' sangeet of FM Arun Jaitley's daughter's wedding function did not raise eyebrows. Not many were aware that King Khan was recently grilled for a little over four hours for investments in KKR, an IPL club, by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) that reports directly to the FM. But many were genuinely surprised to see the presence of Ketan Desai, former head of Indian Medical Association (IMA) whose license was cancelled and designation stripped following corruption charges. There was also Ashok Chaturvedi, an industrialist — twice convicted — now reportedly being probed by the SIT for black money.