SIKH PILGRIMS RECOUNT ATTACK IN BANGLADESH

BANGLA DEPUTY HIGH COMMISSION OFFICIAL COULD NOT BE CONTACTED

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
Kolkata, 10 December

The Sikh devotees who were attacked in Bangladesh three days back, returned to the city today and narrated the tale of horror that they had faced in the neighbouring country.

Two Sikh devotees had sustained severe injuries after being assaulted by armed goons in Chittagong of Bangladesh last Monday. The incident took place around 10.30 p.m. when a micro van carrying the nine pilgrims was targeted by the armed goons near Sitakunda Terihat on the Chittagong-Dhaka highway.

The micro van was part of the four vehicles convoy in which 36 pilgrims were returning after visiting the holy places in Chittagong. The goons also took away cash and cell phones worth around a lakh.

"We had just begun our journey for Dhaka when our vehicle came to an abrupt halt. We found ourselves surrounded by the sword wielding goons knocking hard on the car window and demanding money. Our driver downed the window glasses and the goons attacked us and forced us to take with our belongings. Everything happened in a fraction of seconds, before we could understand anything," recalled Mr Joginder Singh, who was attacked on his knee.

Mr Amarjeet Singh, another Sikh, who was also injured, said, it was difficult to describe the scene as it was gory with blood splattered all over, even inside the car.

"We are extremely sad about the unfortunate incident that has unfolded in the neighbouring country. We have already communicated our displeasure to the government there and have urged them to take proper steps to prevent such attacks in the near future," said Mr Bachan Singh Saral, the general secretary of the Bangladesh Gurdwara management board that arranges the travel of Sikh pilgrims to the neighbouring country.

The official of the deputy high commission of Bangladesh could not be contacted despite several attempts.

Police team waylaid to free gang leader

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
Kolkata, 10 December

Eight gangsters have been arrested on charges of aiding their gang leader to escape after arrest at Nischinda in Howrah while he was being taken to the police station yesterday.

Acting on a tip-off, the police raided a house at Nischinda area and nabbed a notorious criminal, Amit Rajak yesterday evening.

According to an eyewitness, while the police was taking Rajak to the police station on a motorcycle, with him riding pillion, the goon's aides got a whiff of this, assembled near the closed NISCO factory at Belur, and swooped on the police team while it reached the factory. They overpowered the policemen and whisked Rajak away. Later in the evening, the police raided different hideouts of criminals in Belur and arrested seven gangsters, including Bachu Majumdar, who had helped their boss to escape.

We have already initiated an investigation to find out why a motorcycle was used to shift the criminal to the police station.

SENIOR POLICE OFFICER

"We have already initiated an investigation to find out why a motorcycle was used to shift the criminal to the police station," said a senior police official.

TWO MINOR GIRLS RAPED, ACCUSED HELD

Sonarpur, 10 December: Two minor girls were allegedly raped yesterday at Sonarpur in South 24 Parganas and the accused was arrested. The accused person was produced before court and remanded in jail custody.

Police said a daily labourer, Milan Mondal (52), brought two minor girls to his house at Vidyadharpur within Sonarpur police limits yesterday afternoon.

The two girls disclosed everything to their parents when they came back to their home. The local people then rushed to Mondal's house and started to beat him up.

Police arrested him later. Today, Milan was produced at Alipur court, where he was remanded in 14-days jail custody. SNS

Doctor held for practising with fake registration number

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
Serampore, 10 December

We removed Mr Subhhendu from the post of assistant surgeon in the operation theatre...

ARUP BANERJEE

A person practising for years with fake registration and presenting himself as a surgeon was brought to book by an organisation, 'People's for Better Treatment'.

Mr Subhedhu Mallick, a resident of Kumirjella road in Serampore, was found to be practising medicine at his residential chamber and attending operation theatres as an assistant surgeon with a fake registration number.

Mrs Ratna Ghosh, the secretary of 'Peoples for Better Treatment' said, the West Bengal Medical Council has confirmed that no doctor named Subendu Mallick is registered with them as per record.

A general diary, followed by an FIR, was lodged with the Serampore Police Station against the quack by Mrs Ghosh.

Mr Nanda Dulal Ghosh, inpector-in-charge, Serampore said in response to the lodged complaint, a notice has been issued to the main suspect in this regard and further investigation is in process.

The board put up on the wall of his residential chamber reads Dr Subhendu Mallick (MS) Regd No 86589. The suspect, however, denied all the allegations and said "I have never called myself a doctor but I do help senior surgeons in the operating theatre."

The main suspect, however, did not say anything when he was questioned by the media persons.

Mr Arup Banerjee, owner of a private nursing home, said: "We removed Mr Subhhendu from the post of assistant surgeon in the operation theatre when we came to know that he bore fake medical registration."

Parents protest 'misbehaviour' of headmistress

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
Uttarpara, 10 December

A headmistress of a primary school came under fire for being irresponsible and misbehaving with the school students.

The parents and guardians of GSFC School at Kotrang in Uttarpara today locked the main gate of the school protesting against the habitual late arrival of the headmistress Ms Rekha Das and her harsh and rude behavior towards the students of the primary school.

Mrs Safili Das, one of the parents, complained that the headmistress arrived late everyday and the students, who reached the school in time, were left alone without care and guidance. But soon after her arrival, it was alleged, she called up the students and beat them up besides behaving with them in a most unruly manner.

The parents, who gheraoed the headmistress outside the school gate, demanded an explanation from her.

The parents and guardians demanded the intervention of the state education department in this regard.

YOUTH HELD FOR DUPING JOB SEEKERS

Kolkata, 10 December: One youth was arrested by Kolkata Police on the charge of duping job-seekers of their laptops posing as an employer.

The accused Tanmoy Das (28), a resident of Barrackpore's Patulia, posted an advertisement on Naukri.com along with his mobile number and when a candidate would call on that number Das used to ask him to come with his laptop and meet him at a location, a senior officer of Kolkata Police said today.

Working on the complaint of one Animesh Sarkar, police today laid out a trap and netted the accused. PTI
